Eight Candidates Vie for Council At Next Tuesday's City Election

by Elaine Skolnik

Eight candidates, vying for five city council seats next Tuesday, November 2, are winding up their campaigns this week. Incumbents Thomas X. White, Edward V. J. Putens, Antoinette M. "Toni" Bram and Rodney M. Roberts are seeking reelection. The challengers are Judith "J" Davis, Keith Chernikoff, Hopi Auerbach and Council Nedd II. No Advisory questions are on the ballot. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

All candidates — with the exception of Nedd — have participated in election forums and Greenbelt Access Television interviews and have submitted their biographies to the Greenbelt News Review.

So far the campaign has produced few sparks — no flaming oratory. Local political pundits have been struck by the civility marking the candidates' responses to one another. This may be a sign that the political scene this year has not been dominated by major issues dividing the contenders. Or perhaps the candidates' discreet behavior signals their individual aspirations to occupy the mayoral seat.

Procedures Outlined

Voting on election day, Tuesday, November 2, will be held from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at four polling places — the Greenbelt Municipal Building (Precinct 3-Center), the new Police Station, 550 Crescent Road across from Attick Park (Precinct 6-North End), Springhill Lake Recreation Center (Precinct 8-Springhill Lake), and Greenbriar Community Center (Precinct 13-Greenbelt East).

Greenbelters will elect all five council members, all at large, for a two-term term. In order to be elected, a candidate must receive 40% of the votes cast. If fewer than five candidates receive such a vote, a run-off election will be held one week later on Tuesday, November 9.

In a run-off election the ballot will consist of those unsuccessful candidates receiving the greatest number of votes, with up to twice as many names as there are positions to be filled. Candidates polling the greatest number of votes are declared winners in the run-off election regardless of the percentage of votes received.

The 40% requirement for election was introduced in 1967. Earlier a majority vote was required, frequently resulting in run-off elections. Since 1967 no run-offs have taken place. The last run-off election in 1965 pit-

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld's decision not to run for reelection has created heightened interest in the order in which candidates may finish. Councils have traditionally chosen the top vote-getter as mayor, although the city charter is silent on this point. Weidenfeld, a council member for 22 years, served 14 years, nine months as mayor, 11 of them consecutively since 1982.

In making their selection in the voting booth, citizens are expected to look at individual candidates' degree and length of involvement, leadership and experience at various candidate forums and interviews, their responses to questionnaires, the views contained in their literature and advertisements and their personalities.

The city election questionnaire will be available at the polls. As in past years, residents will be asked how they feel about city services and life in Greenbelt in general. For those who do not fill out a questionnaire at the polls, one is published elsewhere in the News Review. It can be mailed to the City Office, 25 Crescent Road.

The Greenbelt Connection Dial-A-Ride will be transporting voters free of charge to and from the polls next Tuesday between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Call 474-4100 for a ride (see ad).

Live election night reports and results will be televised on Channel B-10 after 8 p.m. next Tuesday.

Registration

This is Greenbelt's second city election under universal registration procedures. The city no longer maintains its own voter registration list. Instead, citizens are automatically registered for city elections when they register for county, state and federal contests.

When universal registration was implemented in 1991, the city's registration figures soared from 3,663 in 1989 to 7,440 in 1991. According to the county Board of Elections, 8,842 city residents will be eligible to cast ballots on November 2, almost a 19% increase over 1991.

Registration from the city's four precincts is as follows:

Center's precinct 3 has 2,249 eligible voters, up 13% over 1991; the North End's precinct 6 has 1,933, an increase of 8%; and the tally for Springhill Lake's precinct 8 is 1,502, a substantial 43% rise. Registration in Greenbelt East's precinct 13—3,002—shows an increase of 21% over 1991. Much of this increase can be attributed to new development in Greenbelt East.

Pot Pourri

In 1991, just 89 more Greenbelters voted than in the 1989 city election.

In 1991, four of the five incumbents ran for reelection as is the case this time.

Bram, Roberts, White, Auerbach and Chernikoff reside in the center core of the city. Putens, Davis and Nedd reside in Greenbelt East.

Running for a sixth term, Bram is the fifth woman to serve on the city council, but the first to serve five consecutive terms.

White, Putens and Bram have served together on council since 1983.

White has served 10 consecutive terms (three as mayor pro-tem); Putens six.

Roberts is completing his first term on council.

Chernikoff and Davis have long been active in community affairs, each serving as chair of a City Advisory Committee.

Chernikoff lost his first bid for a council seat in 1987.

Interested in environmental issues, Auerbach is new to the political scene.

Trick or Treat

For the convenience and safety of all, the City of Greenbelt has designated Sunday, October 31, from 6 to 8 p.m., as the time for Halloween Trick or Treating.

News Analysis

Candidates Focus on Crime, Metro and Community Center

by James Giese

There are no hotly contested issues in the city election. Candidates have staked out differing positions in their brochures and ads, their responses to News Review questions and their statement and responses at candidates' nights. However, they have expressed no disagreement nor taken exception to any other candidate's position.

On most matters of city concerns identified by the candidates and others, the differences between candidates seem minor. Only minor criticism has been expressed as well of past actions of the council or any of its members. The candidates have not criticized any of the city operations or management and staff.

Crime

The issue that seems to be of greatest concern to citizens and the candidates is crime reduction. Candidates generally advocate community policing, nontraditional approaches to police patrolling, some increase in police officers and expanded programs involving citizen participation, such as crime watch. Council Nedd II has come forward with the unique idea of advocating an elected sheriff or constable. Rodney Roberts has been a leading advocate of instituting bicycle patrols, but none of the candidates are opposed to the idea under certain circumstances, with some approving their use only if the department has additional personnel. Edward V. J. Putens and Antoinette M. "Toni" Bram have stated that they oppose taking officers out of vehicles and onto bicycles, but believe that bicycles could be used at the Metro station, Roosevelt Center, the lake park, Springhill Lake and elsewhere.

While Hopi Auerbach states that she differs from the other candidates by advocating that the police be increased only a little, none of the other candidates have advocated any significant increases. Those candidates that have discussed how to pay for the increased costs generally have proposed obtaining outside funds or taking cost savings measures. Only Judith "J" Davis has suggested that residents would support increasing taxes to fund additional police.

Davis is also the only candidate to suggest use of mopeds for patrolling. Putens advocates that the police develop a crisis intervention program. Auerbach advocates the teaching of conflict resolution in our schools, rehabilitation rather than inflicting punishment on criminals, and addressing social problems. All support a seven-day waiting period for handgun purchase.

City Finances

While the candidates advocate increased spending for a variety of services and facilities, they generally express reluctance or opposition to increasing taxes. However, none have unequivocally ruled out a tax increase or indicated that they would oppose increasing taxes to pay for the debt service and added cost of operating the community center.

Most have advocated greater effort to seek out funds from other sources, such as grants from the county, state and federal governments and private sources and program fees.

Putens advocates that senior citizens not be charged for city services, including the pool and community center.

Community Center

Of the seven candidates who have responded to questions on the subject (Nedd being absent at the Citizens for Greenbelt (CFG) Candidates' Night), Keith Chernikoff, Bram and Putens expect the bids to be within the funds available. Thomas X. White states that the community center should be completed with the funds available. Roberts and Auerbach argue that, if needed, the project should be cut to the "bare bones." Davis opposes a bare bones approach, proposing instead that additional funds be sought. All seven oppose raising city taxes or taking funds away from other city programs or projects to pay for any additional costs.

Only two candidates specifically addressed the proposal for a performing arts theater addition to the community center. Putens is committed to its completion but advocates that some of the money needed should be raised from other sources. Nedd opposes city dollars paying for it.

Metro Station

The candidates have generally advocated good bus transportation. See CANDIDATES, page 2, c. 3

Your Vote Counts!

The 1965 city council election ended in a runoff contest between Richard Pilski and Clifford Simonson that was decided by a single vote. That election is a perfect example of why everyone needs to vote and why every vote is important. As a recent article about Pilski recounted, many Greenbelters made special efforts to cast their ballots. Others, however, were busy making excuses about why they failed to vote.

Even in our last city election, only small margins separated the candidates. The top vote-getter, Mayor Gil Weidenfeld, won over the next highest candidate by only 28 votes, out of 2400 votes cast.

All five council seats will be filled through this at-large election. Victorious councilmembers must build support throughout the city and, in order to be reelected, must represent all areas and residents.

In turn, all eligible voters can contribute to the election process by casting their ballots. Each of us should support the candidates we think will best represent us for the next two years.

Unlike the 1965 election, however, where the city kept its own voter lists, all residents who are registered to vote in county and state elections are eligible to cast ballots on Tuesday, November 2. Tuesday night, be one of those who can point with pride to a role in picking the candidate — not one searching to excuse their absence from the polls. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Candidates Focus

tion and bicycle and pedestrian access to the new Greenbelt Metro Station. Chernikoff, Bram, Putens, Roberts, and Davis advocate some form of intracity or shuttle bus service to the station, while Auerbach advocates bus service to all neighborhoods.

Bram has called for a Metro summit to identify problems, educate the city and embrace the station as a part of the city. Chernikoff advocates "developing strategies." White states that an "action plan is needed" and Davis wants to "design comprehensive solutions" to deal with problems created by the Metro station.

White levied mild criticism at some other council members by noting that he had wanted public hearings on the wetlands impact of the terminal yard and had supported a $50,000 fund for legal and other professional services but could not get council support.

Development at Metro

The seven candidates who addressed the issue of development at and around the Metro station had differing views. Davis advocated an aggressive city plan with development controlled by the city on the basis that new business can strengthen the city tax base. Auerbach wanted to leave the area as is although she could support a small commercial structure on the site. Bram wants to restrict development by enforcing environmental regulations and strict adequate public facilities tests.

Chernikoff wants to work with those having the right to develop in order to maximize green space, minimize traffic and enforce environmental regulations. White wants the city to invest in its own traffic study to ensure that parking and traffic needs are met.

Putens is opposed to any development and advocates the city's buying what it can, utilizing tax credits. Roberts believes that the city should purchase part of the A. H. Smith property for recreation, noting that the southeast portion could be used for ball fields and that the southwest corner could be used for commercial purposes.

No Country Club

Although no one has advocated new recreation facilities other than ballfields, Auerbach has stated that the city is not a country club and that more extravagant recreational facilities will not help teens. If necessary she would cut the city subsidy to the aquatic center. Roberts and Auerbach advocated placing improved and equal facilities in other parts of the city. Chernikoff wants a long range plan for recreation to the year 2003, to promote recreational facilities for all and to improve current recreational fields. Davis would like to enhance and promote recreational and cultural programs for all.

Park Land

Differences among some candidates occurred on the CFG question dealing with expanding the Northway ballfields. Roberts, Bram and Auerbach are

Registration Figures

Precinct	1993	1991	Percent Change
3—Center	2,249	1,986	13.2
6—North End	2,089	1,933	8.1
8—Springhill Lake	1,502	1,050	43.0
13—Greenbelt East	3,002	2,471	21.5
TOTAL	8,842	7,440	18.8

opposed to adding additional fields. Subject to an updated needs assessment and environmental studies Davis would support an expansion. White stated that he continues to support expansion. Putens and Chernikoff also supported additional fields, but Putens advocated no lights and Chernikoff advocated controlled lighting.

Roberts and Putens advocated the purchase of park land, particularly in the vicinity of the Metro station. Given an extra million dollars without strings attached, White, Chernikoff, and Davis also would use at least some of it to buy open space.

Trails and Overpasses

Chernikoff, Auerbach, White, Putens, Davis and Bram have advocated a city wide trail system for bicycles and pedestrians. Chernikoff wants additional traffic devices to ensure safe crossings at busy intersections such as Southway and Crescent Road.

Others have supported pedestrian overpasses at various locations.

City Elections

None of the seven candidates appearing at the Greenbelt East Candidates' Night (Nedd absent) were opposed to placing restrictions on campaign financing, although Putens expressed concern that such regulations might give the better-known incumbents an advantage. Nedd has advocated term limits for council members.

Auerbach has stated that council members might be elected from wards if residents felt they could only be properly represented by people from their own area.

The others emphasized the fact that each council member represented all residents of the city and were not out to seek special favoritism for only one area. Davis contended that a person could not be elected to the council unless support was received from every section of the city.

Letters

Thanks

Greenbelt is a very special community that gives support, love and respect to their neighbors when they need it.

We want to express our appreciation to all the people of Greenbelt who have been so generous and kind to us and our family since our recent fire. We have received so many contributions of food, clothing, furniture, household, family needs and money.

We want to thank the many fire companies that responded so quickly. A special thanks to the many friends and neighbors who gave love and support to our daughter Courtney-Ann and our son Nathan the night of the fire. This was a most difficult time but with the help of so many and our families, we have made it through.

Our son Nathan is most grateful to the volunteer fireman who was able to save one cage with his gerbils in it. We now have eight baby gerbils.

Our home will be ready around November 5 and we are all looking forward to returning home to Greenbelt. To all our friends and neighbors a heartfelt thanks.

Michael, Alicia, Nathan, and Courtney-Ann Bush

Recycle those Telephone Books

The 1993-94 telephone directories are being distributed now! Residents interested in recycling may bring old telephone books to the Recycling Center at Buddy Attick Park. Telephone books are collected year round at the Center in brown collection containers located under the platform, clearly marked. (Phone book recycling is NOT part of the curbside collection program so please DON'T include them in the yellow bin.)

For Gun Control

Congratulations to President Harriett Phelps and Citizens for Greenbelt Inc. Executive Board for their very informative and interesting City Council Candidates Meeting on October 14.

The News Review's detailed report was skillfully written and generous space allotted but my question to the candidates on hand gun control and their support of the Brady Bill was omitted.

I think those Greenbelt voters who did not attend or view the meeting "live" on cable or subsequent reruns would be interested to know that all the incumbents, as well as the challengers, supported the passage. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld was out of the country.

May I urge the Council, as an official body, to express their support in writing to Representative Hoyer and Senators Mikulski and Sarbanes, as the Brady Bill is scheduled for a vote in the House any day. Individual Greenbelt voters who telephone or write will help speed its passage. Thanks.

Eunice E. Coxon

Thanks to all for your cards and good wishes.

Asbestos Delays Early End To Parkway Bridge Project

by Tom Jones

The project to finish rebuilding the Greenbelt Road bridge over the Baltimore-Washington Parkway is scheduled to be finished in May 1994. Construction in the interchange, which started in October 1991, was six months ahead of schedule until an asbestos conduit was discovered inside the bridge, according to Harry Sloat of the National Park Service traffic division. Other problems have also delayed completion.

The project is part of a complete overhaul of the Parkway to bring it up to federally-set modern highway safety standards, according to Earle Kittleman, also with the Park Service. When construction is complete, drivers will have an extra lane in each direction of the parkway, for the on- and off-ramps to Greenbelt Road (Maryland Route 193) and the Beltway. Greenbelt Road will have three through lanes in each direction. The original narrow ledges on the bridge are being widened to five foot wide sidewalks.

The northern half of the bridge is nearly complete; construction now focuses on the southern half. The entire bridge is on schedule for completion in May of next year although Sloat stated that if more unforeseen problems appear, the project might not be done until July.

Relocated Ramps

The ramps on and off the northbound Parkway, that currently intersect Greenbelt Road from Greenway Center, are being moved closer to Hanover Parkway. These longer ramps will have wider curves and are also expected to prevent the line of cars waiting for the new stoplight from backing up onto the Parkway.

Greenway Center will keep its present entrance location at the old traffic light. The new light controlling traffic for the relocated ramps will be synchronized with the other lights along Greenbelt Road to permit maximum traffic flow.

Guided Walk Set

The Great Greenbelt Volksmarchers have scheduled a guided night walk on Thursday evening, November 4 at 5:30 p.m. Meet at Generous Joe's Deli on Centerway and bring a flashlight.

Participants should be prepared for adverse conditions. The walk is suitable for strollers if weather permits. The event will be held rain or shine unless extreme conditions close facilities required for the walk.

Exploring Islam In America

On Friday, November 5, Jeanne Snyder, a Greenbelt resident interested in different religions, will show the video "Islam in America" to "Explorations Unlimited" participants. The video will introduce the watchers to one of the fastest growing and least understood religions in the country. It will explain how Islam is practiced in America, and will take the viewers inside a maximum security prison to see Islam's effect on inmates. It will also show America's first mosque.

"Explorations Unlimited" is a speaker series held every Friday from 1-3 p.m. at the Youth Center. Everyone is welcome to attend and questions are always encouraged. For information call 474-6878.

Holiday Shopping Party Scheduled

The Greenbelt Nursery School and Kindergarten located at 1 Hillside Road (behind the Community Church) will hold its annual Holiday Shopping Party on Thursday, November 11 from 6-9 p.m.

The staff of the school has selected the best in quality educational toys, games, puzzles, books, art supplies, musical instruments, and puppets for children. Merchandise will be supplied by Patowmack Toys and the House of Musical Traditions. In addition, there will be items available from Discovery Toys, Longaberger Baskets, Tupperware, exceptional crafts, "Greenbelt is Great" items, gourmet items, baked goods, and a raffle. Everyone is welcome.

For more information please contact the school (474-5570).

Toastmasters Meet

Spring Speakers Toastmasters Club offers its members the opportunity to improve their public speaking skills in a supportive and friendly environment. Students, business people and community activists can benefit from joining Toastmasters. The club meets the first and fourth Thursday of each month at the Fountain Lodge in Springhill Lake.

The next meeting is Thursday, November 4 at 7 p.m. For information call Dave at 474-9626.

GEAC to Meet

The Greenbelt East Advisory Committee (GEAC) will hold its next meeting on Thursday, November 4, 7:30 p.m., at the Windsor Green Community Center located at 7474 Frankfort Drive.

Topics to be discussed include GEAC's objectives for 1994 and a proposed meeting with the Greenbelt City Council. Residents of Greenbelt and Greenbelt East are invited to attend.

People should please contact Tim Sechrist at 345-6861 if they have any questions or comments.

Consumer Coop Annual Meeting

Greenbelt Consumer Cooperative has scheduled its annual membership meeting for Saturday, October 30 at 10 a.m. in the Greenbelt Library. The agenda includes a financial report for the recently-completed year, operational updates for both the supermarket and the service station, and the election of three members to the Board of Directors.

The three incumbents — Leta Mach, Jim Cassels and Mike Burchick — have indicated their interest in serving an additional 3-year term. Any other interested GCC member should contact Tom Lammons 474-3507 as soon as possible.

While GCC's auditors have not completed their work, it is clear that the supermarket had another successful year, while the service station incurred its third successive loss. The Board of Directors is seeking member input on the service station, especially since the Co-op's lease on that facility expires in December 1994. Refreshments and door prizes enhance this annual event held at the close of Co-op Month.

Legion Auxiliary Sets Lecture and Bazaar

The Greenbelt American Legion, Post 136 Auxiliary Unit meeting held on the first Thursday in October featured a film about the functions of governmental agencies in the event of disasters.

The next in the "First Thursday" series will be held at 8 p.m. on November 4, and will feature a talk by Lorrie Johnson, a family service counselor for a local cemetery. She will discuss the economic and psychological importance of funeral pre-planning.

Attendees can also get a start on Christmas gift shopping at costume jewelry and plastic storage container displays. Light refreshments will be served.

Christmas shopping may be continued at the annual Craft Bazaar to be held at the Legion Hall on Saturday, November 6, beginning at 10 a.m. Information concerning tables may be obtained by calling 249-6507 or 459-0802.

Tents Set Up on Church Lawn House Local Fund Raisers

by Betsy Likowski

Tents sprang up on the lawns around the Greenbelt Community Church for the Sleep-Out for the Homeless which began on the evening of Friday, October 22. Similar to walk-a-thons that raise money for charity, people who participated were sponsored by other people for a small amount of money each. The money raised is to be used on projects that help homeless people in Prince Georges County.

People arrived in the early evening and set up their tents. Sleep-out participants got a tiny feel for the experience of being a homeless person living outside by staying outdoors the entire night. They cooked and ate a dinner of hot dogs and beans outside on the church grounds. Worship services were held that evening and the next morning on the church steps and a musical performance for entertainment was held on the lawn. Port-a-johns on the church parking lot were the only restroom facilities. Participants enjoyed some of the more traditional sleep-out activities, however, such as roasting marshmallows and sitting around a campfire.

Unfortunately, sleep-out participants also got a taste of the harassment some homeless people endure. Late that night a carload of people drove by repeatedly, honking the horn, yelling, and cursing, keeping some people awake. The episode lasted several hours, and the police were called.

The Greenbelt Community Church on Crescent and Hillside Roads was one of three churches in the county that hosted this annual event.

The event is held even if it rains and last year's participants at a church in Hyattsville stayed out in the rain.

The event is sponsored by Community Ministry, a local ecumenical group sponsored by area churches that help neighbors in need. The group serves meals at its Community Place Cafe; has an anti-eviction fund, The Sharing Fund, that helps keep low income people in danger of being evicted in their homes; and coordinates the housing of homeless people in area churches such as Safe Haven for single men and Warm Nights for families.

Donations for this event can still be made. Send a check to Community Ministry, Prince Georges County, 3847 Branch Avenue, Suite 106, Temple Hills, Md. 20748.

So far $2,640 was raised in Greenbelt through this event.

Co-op Offers New Services

by Leta Mach

This reporter has a propensity to leave the house without checking to see how much money she has, which is why last weekend she was pleased to remember that Greenbelt Consumer Co-op has a new service for its members and customers.

When I went to Co-op, I just needed to buy lemon juice for a recipe for dinner. However, once I got there I succumbed to "impulse buying" and decided why not a bleeding heart, it might be nice to plant one in the rock garden and maybe this was the time of year to do so. Then, wandering down another aisle, I thought, why not some lentil soup. That looked good. Lo and behold, I had over $5.00 worth of groceries and only $2.00 cash. It was time to use the Most Card.

Yes, it is now possible to use a Most debit card at Co-op. Simply take your purchases to the cash register and instead of handing over cash or writing a check, hand the cashier your Most card. The money for your purchase will come out of your checking account. You can even get cash—up to $50.

Metro Passes

The other new service that Co-op has recently offered is Metro passes. People can now buy their passes for riding on Metro buses or the subway at the Co-op Office window. Five types of passes are available. They are: The Bus-Rail Super Pass. This pass is valid for a specified two-week period on Metrobus and Metrorail. The MD Base Flash Pass. It's valid on Metrobus for a full fare on any trip in Maryland. The MD-DC Flash Pass. This pass is only valid on Metrobuses. During rush hours, it's valid on trips between Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Metrobus Tokens. The Co-op has packs of 20 available. Tokens are not time sensitive and can be used anywhere in the bus system. When using them, 10 cents is saved per token over the usual bus fare.

Senior / Disabled Farecards. Seniors and disabled individuals who have a Metro ID, available at the library, may purchase these farecards.

The farecards and tokens are sold by Co-op at face value. The supermarket does not make any profit on them. They are offered as a service to customers. Postage stamps are also on sale at the supermarket at face value.

Greenbelt High Alumnus Plan Golden Reunion

Classes from 1938-1951 of Greenbelt High School are dusting off those memories as they prepare to celebrate a "golden" reunion next spring. The planning committee is meeting to plan a gala evening for Saturday, May 14, 1994, at the Conference Center, University College, University of Maryland. There will be entertainment, dinner, and meeting and greeting old friends.

There were approximately 800 graduates of GHS during its existence from 1938 to 1951 as a 4-year high school, grades 9-12. The new building, which opened in September 1938, served the neighboring communities of Berwyn and Beltsville as well as the new town of Greenbelt. In the fall of 1951 the county converted to the junior high school system: the building became Greenbelt Junior High and high school students from Greenbelt were sent to Northwestern Senior High in Hyattsville.

An informal survey of GHS graduates has shown that many are still living in the local area. Now that most alumni are retired, some are moving South, especially to Florida. The reunion committee is making an exhaustive effort to locate missing classmates.

To find out more about the reunion, make a reservation or supply a new address, please get in touch with Donnie Wolfe, 474-5150, or Kathleen Scott McFarland, 474-6892, or write to the committee at P.O. Box 567, Greenbelt, Maryland 20770.

Those who attended Greenbelt High School but didn't graduate shouldn't shy away. They are welcome to attend the reunion. Friends and families are also invited.

Grand Opening at Petstuff Offers Fun for People & Pets

Petstuff, a new and growing chain of pet superstores with a unique concept in pet care and supplies will have a grand opening in Greenbelt on November 6. Pets and people are both invited to join in the fun! The Greenbelt store is located at 6000 Greenbelt Road in Beltway Plaza.

The Greenbelt Petstuff grand opening will consist of a myriad of events for everyone including pets!

Face Painting (free) will take place from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Big, Dog Little Dog, Fat Cat Pet Contest will take place throughout the day. The biggest dog, the smallest dog, and the fattest cat will each receive a $100 gift certificate. All entrants will be weighed on Petstuff's digital scales.

A Pet Show and Contest will take place at 10:30 a.m. Children ages 3-12 are invited to participate with their pets. Pets and children will march around the store as the judges look for such qualities as the "Hippiest cat", the "furiest dog", or maybe even the "sparkiest eyes" as pets strut their stuff. Every child and pet will be a winner with a free prize! Additional prizes will be awarded in each age group.

Caricatures

Pet Caricaturists will be on hand from 1 to 4 p.m. to create masterpieces featuring everyone's furry friends. ($5 donation to local Humane Society is requested per caricature).

The new Petstuffs are superstores with an emphasis on variety, low prices, and service. "We believe pets should be treated with the same high caliber of customer service as people," commented Don Robinson, the manager of the Greenbelt Petstuff. Petstuff stores occupy approximately 23,000 square feet of space and contain 7,500 items as well as an enormous variety of premium and super market brand pet foods at substantial savings.

Customers are encouraged to bring their pets with them.

For the working pet parents, pets may be dropped off as early as 7 a.m. to be groomed and picked up at the end of the day at no additional charge beyond grooming. The proud parents may even wish to have their pets' photograph taken by a professional photographer in the store's gallery. Petstuff is also offering curbside or "bag-boy" service for large, heavy purchases. All this can be done at the customer's convenience.

The company hires individuals who have some experience with animals and then adds to their knowledge by having extensive mandatory training programs for employees. The Petstuff staff are cross-trained so their knowledge reaches beyond their own area of expertise.

Petstuff will not sell dogs or cats, limiting pet sales to freshwater fish, domestically raised birds, and small furry friends such as guinea pigs. Petstuff is working in cooperation with SPCA's and Humane Societies to promote pet adoption.

There are plans to organize a program called "Pet of the Week" where "pets without parents" will have a chance to meet potential loving pet parents. This program will attempt to increase the number of adoptions.

Seminars for the public will be held in Petstuff at no charge on such topics as petcare and dog obedience to emphasize responsible pet ownership according to Jim Flanagan, president and CEO of Petstuff.

Store hours are Monday - Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The Greenbelt store can be reached at (301) 474-8334.

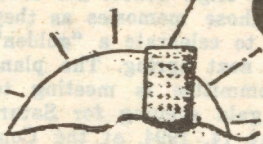

Pepco Coupons — A Good Deal

Pepco coupons for energy saving light bulbs are in the mail. Thrifty consumers will be able to trade these coupons for bulbs at the True Value Hardware store in Beltway Plaza. The GE compact fluorescent bulbs come in two sizes and Barry Blechman, the store owner, has dropped the price to equal the coupons.

In addition, a GE rebate offer will return five dollars per bulb (up to four bulbs per customer).

Blechman hopes that in return his customers will contribute generously to the special community projects sponsored by The Greenbelt Lions Club.

Thus far Pepco customers have redeemed more than 250,000 coupons for these energy-conserving light bulbs and in doing so have saved enough electricity to power 1,300 homes for one year. Each bulb saves energy by using just a quarter of the electricity a standard incandescent bulb uses. This in turn also saves customers money on their electric bills by reducing their electricity use.

Ed McGehrin Receives Award

Ed McGehrin, a stockbroker with Merrill Lynch in Greenbelt, has been named to receive the Alumni Achievers Award from the Millay Club, the Alumni Association of Southeast Catholic/St. Johns Neumann High School, in Philadelphia. The award is given to an outstanding alumnus for his "Role in Society - Past, Present and Future."

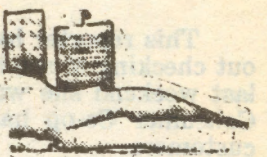

Previous honors for McGehrin, a Hyattsville resident since 1958, include the Alumni Medal from Villanova University (1976) for "Outstanding Service to the University" (he served eight years on the board of trustees), the "Broker of the Year Award" from Registered Representative Magazine (1984) and "The Humanitarian Citizen" award from Rotary International District 7062 (1989).

The "Alumni Achiever Award" will be presented at an awards dinner on October 27, when McGehrin will be asked to describe his special achievements in an address to the honor society of the high school.

McGehrin is a vice president and financial consultant with Merrill Lynch in their newly opened Greenbelt office.

Greenbelt's Business

Co-op Station to Sell Name Brand Gas, Get Face Lift

by Leta Mach

To draw in more customers and increase sales, the Greenbelt Co-op Service Station is now selling Citgo gasoline.

"The decision to offer Citgo gas is in the best interests of our membership which wants to be able to take their automobiles to the Co-op where they feel confident that they are receiving honest and reliable service," said Co-op President Jim Cassels. He added that the board hopes a branded gas will bring in enough new business to make the station profitable.

For many months, the cooperative's board of directors has been considering ways to increase business at the service station, which has operated at a loss for three consecutive years. At the end of 1994, the cooperative's lease on the service station property will end and will have to be renegotiated. "It is critical over the next 14 months to get the station operating in the black," explained Co-op Treasurer Joe Timer.

The agreement with Citgo provides that the Co-op will sell Citgo gas, oil and antifreeze. All other Co-op services remain the same. Essentially, explains Co-op Service Station Manager Dave Meadows, "We have branded our gas."

Citgo gas has strong name recognition. It is heavily advertised on television and is considered a high-quality, top-rated gasoline. The Co-op board expects that using Citgo gas will increase the volume of business by capturing more non-member sales.

But the value of this location was not being sufficiently exploited by selling generic gasoline, which causes some potential customers to turn away.

In exploring ways to improve business at the service station, board and staff visited area service stations and sought the advice of the national service station trade association. Frequently mentioned was the belief that the Co-op's location at the Parkway entrance/exit ramp is excellent.

The use of Citgo gas also permits customers to use additional credit cards and reduce the cooperative's costs in offering those credit cards.

Facelift

In conjunction with the new branded gas, the service station is also receiving a facelift. Improvements are being made to the interior, the lighting and the canopy. The building will also be painted. A new sign with both the Citgo and Co-op name will be installed. The improvements are expected to be completed by the end of November.

"We are making this change to make the service station a viable business and we ask the membership to support the Co-op by utilizing the service station for all their automotive needs and recommending it to their friends," concluded Cassels.

Help re-elect

Rodney Roberts

To Greenbelt City Council.

Here's what your neighbors say:

Rodney Roberts has our support because we know he has integrity. He has a proven record of leadership, especially on environmental issues of great importance to Greenbelt. He also has common sense and the ability to come up with creative solutions to problems facing Greenbelt.

Ruth Kastner and Chuck Hagelgans

I strongly endorse his position on greenspace, his ideas on improving our ability to combat crime, and his approach to issues concerning Metro.

Harriette Phelps

We support Rodney because of his commitment to the preservation of the Green Belt through the many hours he spends in clean-up and in environmental advocacy.

Carole and Andy Levin

Rodney is honest and straightforward; he tells me what he believes rather than what he thinks I want to hear.

Keith Jahoda

Let's make sure that this home grown, seasoned, down-to-Earth, keep-it-wooded, fellow citizen remains on Council. Vote for Rodney Roberts.

Leonie Penney

As long-time Greenbelt residents, we know Rodney will continue to make great contributions to Council.

Jack and Dee Downs

Rodney knows the things that make Greenbelt great, and he's working hard to protect them.

Alan and Wendy Turnbull

He's a good environmentalist. We can count on him to save Greenbelt from over-development.

Eli Crupain

In the past two years Rodney Roberts has certainly earned my vote.

Special Contests

Even though this year's Labor Day Festival Special Contests moved indoors competition remained fierce and fun was had by all!

In the Diaper Derby, Corinne Barnett crawled her way to a first place victory, followed by Richard Clermont in second place and Peter Lomax in third place. For walkers, the Toddler Race was the place to be on Saturday morning. Curtis Pollit was the first place winner. Kevin Townsend took second place and Elise Flynn was the third place finisher.

A new contest for four to six year olds was the soda can pitch. John Yakupakovic proved to be the can pitching champion, with Gregory Bistany providing some close competition. Thanks go to Greenbelt Recycling for providing a recycling container for the contest.

The Fireman's Relay again featured fire coats and boots provided by the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department. Heather Yakupakovic came in first, Julia Crossed was a close second and Madison Callebaugh received third place honors. In another new contest for 1993 the Sack Race—winners were Paul Calebaugh Christy Osborne and Michael Willer.

The afternoon's Watermelon Seed Contest provided some welcome relief from the heat. While children of all ages participated, no clear winner was selected. Winning teams for the Water Balloon Toss included Bill Osborne and Sheila Yakupakovic, Paul and Oliver Calebaugh and Eileen Osborne and Karan Lundregan. And the last Special Contest was a messy one, due in part to the cream pies provided by Giant Food. Michael Bond was the first place winner, followed by Nicole Osborne in second place and Michael Faherty in third place.

Special Contest organizers Karen Yoho and Emily Crossed would like to thank those who participated in the contests and their fans, as well as local merchants who donated prizes.

There were 38 entrants who submitted 65 photos to the 1993 Labor Day Festival Photographic Exhibition. The photo and arts shows were held in the Youth Center and together created a significant display by Greenbelt artists. Jim Parker organized the exhibition and Greg Hageage and Celia Escudero-Espadas served as judges, selecting 30 winners in six categories.

Escudero-Espadas is a local artist with a current show at the University of Maryland. She specializes in black and white portraiture. Greg Hageage is a teacher of English as a second language and is a veteran amateur photographer.

The winners are for Nature/Landscape: 1st place, Tom Luby; second, Ken Dement; 3rd, Frank Coorsen; 4th, Mark Ammerman and Bruce Mangum. In the Black and White Category these winners were announced: 1st, Leonard Wallace; 2nd, Prosperos Zevallos; 3rd, Anne Zevallos; 4th, Holley Wallace. In the Category of People the winners are: 1st, Jonathan Murray; 2nd, Christel Converse; and tied for 3rd, Keith Zevallos and Debra Bowen. For the abstract category the winners are: 1st, Prosperos Zevallos; 2nd, Anne Zevallos; 3rd, Julie Eckhardt; and 4th, Larry Virts.

In the category of Color/General, these winners were announced: 1st, Tony Wallace, whose photograph "Moon Over Greenway", was also selected the Community Favorite; 2nd place, Leta Mach; 3rd, Nadim Ahmed; 4th, Julie Eckhardt. In the Youth Category, the judges made these selections: 1st, Samantha Kling; 2nd, Michael Bond; 3rd, Erin Thomas; and tied for 4th, Christopher Bond, Angela Shehadi, and T. J. Luby.

The Cipriano Award to salute Americans at Work was presented to Marie Ammerman for her photograph entitled, "Clown's Apprentice". The Environmental Award presented by the Committee to Save the Green Belt and the Greenbelt Greens went to Bruce Mangum for his photograph, "The Falls."

Festival Race Results

by Larry Noel

Peter Kirk, 36, from Rockville had one of the easiest victories in the long history of the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival 15 kilometer (9.3 mile) running race, winning by over a half mile on September 5. Kirk's time was 51 minutes and 26 seconds, only 16 seconds short of the fastest time in the last 12 years. Last year Kirk also won in 51:59.

Leading the Greenbelters was Gerardo Magat, 28, in 16th place in 64:06. John Salemme, 35, 27th in 72:40, Ken Label, 30, 59th in 82:01, Joe Broderick, 69, 69th in 86:01 and Clay Harmon, 41, 77th in 101:00. Former Greenbelters Tom Downs and Bill Bishop were noted finishing, but their times were unavailable. The three kilometer (1.8 mile) run around the lake was won by Greenbelter Brenda Clermont, 33, in 13:46, the women's section, or third place overall. In the men's section, six Greenbelters finished, led by Chiao-Ho Chen, 34, in second place in 11:25, David Granite, 46, 4th in 12:58, Chris Clermont, 41, 6th in 14:27, Chinchao, 32, 7th in 14:37, Vincent Osborne, 9, 11th in 18:13 and Craig Tooley, 33, 16th in 28:55.

A RECORD OF PERFORMANCE

A COMMITMENT TO LEAD

Autumn's Carnival of Colors

by Betsy Likowski

The autumn leaves are now at their peak of color in our area. The yellow, orange and red of the maples, hickories and sweet gums almost glow with intense color. The oaks will peak later with their duller shades of yellow, orange, red and brown.

Some people from the north say that our autumn display is just a pale copy of what they are used to seeing. But you can see trees or groves around the city that are every bit as beautiful as anything seen elsewhere.

Some examples of beautiful groves around the city are the orange maple trees along Southway, the multi-colored sweet gum trees next to the pools, and the bright yellow tulip trees next to the dark green pines between Braden Field and the fire house. And, of course, many stunning individual trees of other kinds can be seen here and there.

The most beautiful trees, to my mind, are the black gums. They turn early and most have lost their leaves by now, but these are the variety that turn brilliant red or orange. Earlier there was a stunning tree next to St. Hugh's and that small grove of brilliant scarlet along Crescent Road beside the police station were black gums.

Another tree that turns entirely one color is the hickory and they turn solid yellow. Sprinkled throughout the woods, they can be seen between 58 and 62 court Ridge Road and in the lake park along Crescent Road.

Most of the bright colors we see now are due to red maple and sweet gum trees. Despite the name, red maples will turn yellow, orange, and red. Sweet gums turn all these colors and purple too! So if you see a purple tree or a tree with a purple branch, you are looking at a sweet gum tree. This tree's brilliant autumn leaves almost make up for our having to put up with the hundreds of spikey balls it drops on the ground. So watch your step under this tree! Out of the gum balls fall seeds which feed the birds all winter long.

Another curious sight you may see is a tree with bright leaves all around its trunk and the rest of the leaves green or dull in color. This is a vine such as poison ivy or virginia creeper that has turned color quicker than the tree that supports it.

Everyday each tree seems to be a bit different in color as the individual leaves continue to change in tone until they fall off. A good example of this effect is the beech tree. Each tree looks a different shade, yet each leaf is either yellow, brown, or a combination of both. And the change of color progresses the same on every tree I've seen. The tree turns color first on the top and edges, then moves to the bottom and inside. Each leaf first changes to yellow on the edges, the yellow moves inward, and then brown appears at the edges and then moves inward.

So all these trees change in the same way, but notice the different shades of tan, rust, yellow on the beech trees near the library and between Crescent Road and Centerway

Halloween Safety

The Maryland SAFE KIDS Coalition (of the State Highway Administration's Office of Traffic and Safety) offers the following tips for a safe Halloween:

To improve kids' traffic safety:

- Decorate costumes, bags, and sacks with reflective tape.
- Use bright costumes.
- Remind kids to be careful (stop at corners, check traffic before crossing enter and exit cars on curb side, etc.)

To prevent injury from falls:

- Instead of a mask, use face paint or cosmetics.
- Make sure hats and masks fit securely.
- Cut mask eye holes large enough for full vision.
- Give kids flashlights.
- Make costumes short (prevents tripping).

— Dress kids in shoes that fit well.

— Allow kids to carry only flexible knives, swords, or other props.

— Tell kids not to cut across yards.

To prevent burns:

- Look for "flame resistant" labels on costumes, masks, beards, and wigs.
- Use fire resistant material for all homemade costumes.

— Avoid flimsy material, baggy sleeves, or billowing skirts.

For general security:

- Attach the name, address, and phone number of kids under 12 to their clothes.
- Teach kids their phone numbers. Make sure they have change for emergency calls.

— Tell kids to stick together on a familiar, pre-established route.

— Set a time to come home.

— Don't go to homes with unlit porch or outside lights.

— Remove obstacles and breakable items from household steps, lawn, and porch.

Tell children to bring their treats home before eating them. Check treats to ensure that they haven't been tampered with. Inspect fruit for punctures or holes and cut it open before eating.

Tips for motorists:

- Slow down in residential areas!
- Watch for children in the

COUNTERFEIT BILLS PASSED IN GREENBELT

Several counterfeit hundred dollar bills have been passed to retail merchants in Greenbelt in recent weeks, according to Greenbelt Police Department spokesperson Officer George Mathews. The bills were discovered by area banks.

These bills should be easily recognized as bogus, Mathews said, except at a busy time with a lot of customer traffic when the merchant is hurried.

The Police Department warns merchants to be particular when receiving larger denomination bills. A close look and feel of the paper should be enough to spot the bogus bill.

The Secret Service, which handles all counterfeiting crimes, is investigating the incidents in cooperation with the Greenbelt Police.

"Funny Money" — one dollar bills dressed with 20 dollar corners have shown up in New Carrollton. Merchants and customers alike can avoid being fooled by reading both sides of those bills. The number one is spelled out on the reverse.

Soccer News

by Jeff Keir

The Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club's 11-year-old (1982) soccer team is well through its Fall County schedule, currently with a 4-2 record, with two league games remaining. All four of the team's wins have been by shutout. Most members of this team played in the pre-season Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club Soccer Tournament on Greenbelt's 12 and under team, which took first place. After the tournament that team was split with the 12-year-olds moving up onto a 13 and under team (1980-81) coached by Thomas McFodwo and Martin Zormelo (the 12 and

The Drs. McCarl are continuing their campaign to help you reduce tooth decay by the sealing of your teeth.

Subsequently she served on the Greenbelt Advisory Planning Board until she was elected to City Council in 1983.

Bram is past president of the Homemakers Club, was a Camp Fire leader, board member and coach for St. Hugh's C.Y.O., coach for the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club, board member and meet official for the Greenbelt Aquatic Boosters Club, and P.T.A. vice president. For COUNCIL

During the election campaign, I have discussed and focused on three important issues:

- Making Greenbelt a Safe Place. The next Council will need to explore innovative and non-traditional programs in police patrols and law enforcement. I will continue my strong and consistent support for public safety.
- Making Metro Work For Greenbelt. Metro access for pedestrians, bikers, and van/shuttle needs to be a front burner priority for 1994. I am committed to addressing Greenbelt Metro issues in a focused and co-ordinated manner.
- Managing Our Limited Fiscal Resources. The City's plan to renovate the Center School into Community Center represents a significant challenge to our fiscal capacity. I am committed to the management of the project in a sound, prudent and fiscally responsible way.

As usual, we have our work cut out for us. I have enjoyed your support for the past twenty years. If reelected, I will continue to represent your interests in an independent, thoughtful and informed manner.

Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

As a man was walking in the 7700 block of Hanover Pkwy. around 7:45 p.m. on October 15 another man approached him, produced a BB-type pistol, and demanded the first man's money. The man with the gun then kicked the first man to the ground, removed money from his wallet and took his watch. Then he left. He is described as black, 18 years old, 6', 150 lbs., wearing a black "Newport" baseball cap, a white T-shirt, black jean shorts over black bicycle shorts, and white shoes.

Around 11:30 a.m. on October 18, some people in 4 Court Gardenway were approached by four people who asked them if they had any change. The first group replied that they had no money, whereupon the second group started striking the first group with their fists. Then the second group ran away over the Spellman Overpass towards Eleanor Roosevelt High School. Two of them, 16- and 17-year-old nonresident youths, were located in the area, arrested, and charged with assault and battery. The 17-year-old was also charged with trespassing. Both were released to a guardian pending trial. Investigation is continuing regarding the other suspects.

While patrolling the area of Cherrywood Lane and Greenbelt Road around 1:45 p.m. on October 22, an officer observed several vehicles stopped in the roadway and two people battering a third in a grassy area off to the side of the road. Investigation showed that the incident stemmed from a verbal altercation between the participants in the College Park area; then the victim was followed into Greenbelt by the two batterers, where they struck his vehicle with their own, and began punching and kicking him when he got out of his vehicle. Consequently, two nonresident men, aged 19 and 20, were arrested and charged with battery. Both appeared before a District Court Commissioner; one was held on $15,000 bond pending trial, and the other on $5,000 bond.

A 25-year-old nonresident man was arrested and charged with battery on October 18 after an incident of domestic violence in 11 Court Parkway. He appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was released pending trial.

A 36-year-old resident man was arrested and charged with assault and battery on October 19 after striking his wife during a domestic argument in the 6800 block of Landon Lane. He appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was released pending trial. The woman was taken to the hospital for treatment of injuries to her mouth and face.

While following a suspicious vehicle in the area of Southway and Ridge Road around 12:15 a.m. on October 21, an officer saw an occupant throw an object out of the vehicle when the officer attempted to pull the vehicle over. The object turned out to be a cigarette apparently dipped in phenylcyclidine (PCP). A quantity of suspected PCP was also found inside the vehicle. Consequently, a 33-year-old nonresident man and a 30-year-old nonresident woman were arrested and charged with possession of PCP. Both appeared before a District Court Commissioner. The woman was held on $2,500 bond pending trial and the man was released.

Around 3 p.m. on October 21, officers responded to a report of a man with no clothes on in a hallway in the Holiday Inn. The manager, who wanted the man to leave, directed the officers to the man's room. Inside the room, in plain view, was a pipe such as is commonly used to smoke marijuana. The man, a 33-year-old nonresident, was arrested and charged with possession of (drug) paraphernalia. He was released on a citation pending trial.

Around 2 a.m. on October 22 an officer stopped a vehicle for an equipment violation in the area of Greenbelt Road and Frankfort Drive. While talking to the driver, the officer smelled marijuana coming from inside the vehicle, and found two pipes such as are commonly used to smoke marijuana inside the vehicle. Consequently, the two occupants, a 20-year-old resident man, and an 18-year-old nonresident man, were arrested and charged with possession of (drug) paraphernalia. Both were released on citation pending trial.

An attempted breaking and entering of a residence in the 6100 block of Breezewood Road was reported on October 18. Someone had removed the door-knob from the front door.

A stolen 1984 Nissan Sentra was recovered in the 7400 block of Greenbelt Road on October 21.

A brown, four-door, 1989 Honda, MD tags NRL084, was reported stolen from the area of Fayette Place and Greenhill Road on October 20.

On October 21, a blue with black vinyl top, two-door, 1985 Buick Regal, MD tags 914ABW, was reported stolen from the 9100 block of Springhill Drive, and a brown, four-door, 1993 Honda Accord, MD tags YBH224, was reported stolen from the 7500 block of Greenway Center Drive.

Vandalisms to, thefts from, and attempted thefts of autos were reported in the following areas: the 6400 block of Capitol Drive, the 6000 block of Greenbelt Road, the 7700 block of Hanover Pkwy., the area of Mandan Road and Hanover Pkwy., the 7800 block of Mandan Road, and the area of Ora Glen Drive and Ora Glen Court.

How the Fall Gardener Creates A Colorful Spring and Summer

by Betsy Likowski

There's more to gardening in the autumn than raking leaves. And the garden season does not have to end when the first frost kills the marigolds, zinnias, and tomatoes. Autumn is the season of opportunity when gardeners can do as much or as little work in the garden as they want.

In fact, this is the best time of year to plant spring flowering bulbs like daffodils and tulips. This is also one of the best times of year to plant or move perennial flowers such as daylilies, daisies, phlox, and peonies. Other chores can be done, such as harvesting (and eating) the late crop of vegetables, soil preparation for next year's garden, and starting a compost heap. And late autumn is a good time to plant trees and shrubs.

Bulbs

The garden shops are full of bulbs and now is the time to imagine what kinds of flowers you would like to see in your garden next spring. Although daffodils, tulips, and crocuses are the best known bulbs, there are many more kinds. All are easy to plant, easy to care for, and many come back and flower every year. Plant bulbs that bloom at different times and have different colors to get a range of color in the garden.

The common daffodil is an example of the endless possibilities of spring flowering bulbs. If you plant early, mid-season, and late-blooming daffodils you can enjoy them for six to eight weeks. They come in many sizes and shapes and some smell very good, such as the late blooming variety "Geranium."

And if you add small bulbs, you could have quite a stunning display. An example is the purple crocus with the early yellow daffodil "February Gold" and mid-season "King Alfred," the classic yellow trumpet daffodil. Purple grape hyacinths with the late white "Thalia" daffodil would give you a great display of color throughout March and April.

Some bulbs can be planted throughout the lawn to give an effect of a naturally occurring display of flowers.

If you already have bulbs, you can fertilize them now or dig them up, divide them and replant them.

And for an early spring display, try forcing bulbs. Plant them in a pot now, sink the pot into the soil in the yard to the brim, and put mulch on top. Bring the pot inside in February when the plants will start to grow.

Perennial Flowers

The first frost means the end of the annual flowers such as impatiens and marigolds. But October and April are the best times to plant most perennial flowers.

Let's say your clump of perennial flowers, such as daylilies, hostas, peonies, daisies, or phlox has gotten big. Now is the time to dig up that clump, divide it into smaller plants, and replant the plants. Make sure to water enough and mulch to protect from winter's cold blast.

To get an idea of what kinds of perennials grow well in this area, take a look around the city at people's gardens and at public displays such as those planted by the city near the entrance of the lake park.

Some garden companies and garden shops do sell perennials at this time of year.

Pansies are not perennials but plant them in the autumn for enjoyment next spring.

Vegetables

Foresighted gardeners planted their fall vegetable crop earlier and are now enjoying the fruits of their labors. We are fortunate in this area that we can grow cool weather vegetables both in the spring and autumn.

Take a look around the city for ideas, especially at the Garden Club fields. And remember, many of these vegetables can be grown in the spring too—so plan ahead. Some cool weather vegetables are lettuce, swiss chard, kale, collard greens, peas, brussels sprouts, onions, and broccoli. Next year vow to plant those greens around Labor Day and enjoy lettuce until at least December.

Soil Preparation

Autumn is a good time to dig a new garden bed or fertilize an existing one for next year's garden. The weather is pleasantly cool, the soil is not soggy wet as it usually is in the spring, and work done now means less to do during the spring planting rush.

So often you have to wait for the soil to dry out in the spring, and when it dries everything has to be done at once. Not only is working with wet soil heavy work for the gardener, it is bad for the soil and will adversely affect your plants.

If you want to get rid of weeds in a garden bed cover the bed with newspaper and then mulch. Next spring uncover the bed.

Compost

Why throw away all those good leaves? Compost them and create good quality soil.

There are many types of compost bins or heaps. But the simplest is just to put a fence around a small area—say 3 x 3 feet.

The basic compost heap can be as simple as alternating layers of a foot deep of stomped-down leaves with a thin layer of soil. Of course this is the very simplest compost heap, but try it rather than not composting at all. Or take the plunge and read up on the intricacies of composting. It is not hard and it will mean you have a more efficient heap that produces soil faster.

If you already have a compost heap that has produced soil, this is a good time to spread that "new" soil onto the garden beds.

Trees and Shrubs

Trees and shrubs can be planted in the fall. And the cool weather makes the heavy work of digging the hole easier on the gardener too. If the soil is dry, water your shrubs until it gets very cold in December.

Information

This article can only give you a taste of what gardening work can be done in the fall. For more information try the Greenbelt library. There are shelves of books on gardening under call number 635.9 and if you can't find what you want, ask the librarians for help. They can even order you a book from another library with even more books.

JOE'S TIPS OF THE WEEK

Hello Again!

Nothing is more aggravating than a water or air leak around the rubber weatherstripping located around the trunk lid, door jams or removable roof panel. This is a tough problem to correct. To prevent such a condition, purchase silicon in spray or paste form from your local automotive supplier. Apply it directly on a clean rag, and wipe it into the rubber weatherstripping. This will keep the weatherstripping from drying, cracking and shrinking. This will maintain the best seal possible.

TILL NEXT TIME

THINK PREVENTIVE MAINTENANCE.
